

URMI Immigration workshop

5th May, 2017, National Institute for Health and Welfare (THL), Helsinki

- 10.10-10.20 Opening words and presentation round
- 10.20-10.45 Jarkko Rasinkangas (Institute of Migration): Residential segregation and housing policies in the three largest urban regions in Finland
- 10.45-11.10 Maria Vaalavuo (THL): Income and residential mobility of individuals living in low-income areas
- 11.10-11.35 Leen Rahnu (University of Tartu): The role of linguistic similarity and workplace in the formation of inter-ethnic partnerships in Finland during 1999-2014
- 11.35-12.20 Lunch in the THL cafeteria
- 12.20-12.45 Timo Kauppinen (THL): Decomposition of the demographic processes contributing to the dynamics of ethnic residential segregation
- 12.45-13.10 Camilla Marucco (UTU) & Tiit Tammaru (University of Tartu): Segregation/interaction through free time, work and home: ethnic Somalis in three suburbs of Turku, Finland
- 13.10-13.35 Lotta Koistinen (UTU): Whose body counts? Bio- and geopolitical aspects of the governance of irregular migration
- 13.35-13.50 Coffee
- 13.50-14.15 Noora Salmela (UTU): The third sector organizations' strategies and practices related to refugees / asylum seekers in Lesvos (Greece) and in Jordan
- 14.15-14.40 Hanna Heino (UTU): Foreign immigration in the strategies of the Finnish municipalities
- 14.40-15.05 Jussi Jauhiainen (UTU): ICT use and the asylum seeking process: the case of Lesvos, Greece
- 15.05-15.30 Closing discussion